

Immigration control, independence tied

I'm responding to Mr. John Stone's letter in the April 29 Voice of the People.

He stated that there are a lot of unwanted (at least by him) immigrants on Guam and he hopes that Guam will gain control of its immigration.

I believe the only way that could occur is for Guam to vote for independence.

In the past, the United States has allowed the CNMI and American Samoa to control immigration. The results in both cases were disastrous.

If independence is achieved, Mr. Stone, might YOU be declared an unwanted alien?

Perhaps, in any case, you should read Emma Lazarus. You know, "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses ..."
